Axway Shares Resources on Managed File Transfer with CIO Finance Summit Audience

June 25, 2010 – The CIO Finance Summit team is pleased to share with its IT executive audience online resources on managed file transfer and community management from Axway, the Business Interaction Networks company. The online content will be continually updated leading up to and throughout the CIO Finance Summit, August 29-September 1, 2010. To access the content, please visit www.ciofinancesummit.com/managedfiletransfer/.

Axway facilitates the multi-enterprise transactions and processes that accelerate businesses and their offerings, including business-to-business integration, managed file transfer, secure integration and more. The resources shared with the CIO Finance Summit's CIO and IT financial services audience examines solutions that enable banks, market infrastructures and financial services organizers to better manage financial data and secure transmissions.

Resources found on the solution center include:

- Do You Have a Blind Spot When It Comes to Managed File Transfer? – A white paper that examines five things you can do to eliminate your Managed File Transfer (MFT) blind spot, and gain granular visibility into your entire file transfer ecosystem.
- Weathering the Perfect Storm - A real-life example of how two competitors approached weathering the economic downturn - with two very different outcomes.

All content will be available on the CIO Finance Summit website through the duration of the event. To find out more about the CIO Finance Summit, please contact Nick Backhouse, Event Director, CIO Finance Summit at nick.backhouse@cdmmedia.com or visit the event website at www.ciofinancesummit.com.
