CIO Summit Announces New Delegates from Kaiser Permanente and US Tennis Association

June 29, 2010—The CIO Summit team is pleased to announce two new delegates who will be attending the upcoming technology event: Jim Crawford, VP & Southern California BIO, Kaiser Permanente, and Larry Bonfante, CIO, US Tennis Association.

The CIO Summit, to be held November 7-10, 2010 in Scottsdale, Arizona, is a unique educational opportunity that brings together technology leaders and analysts to network with their peers, attend educational sessions and learn about the latest technology solutions. The event will bring together CIOs from the following industries: healthcare, energy, transportation, insurance, finance, utilities, and government.

“The CIO Summit is a great opportunity for attending CIOs and technology leaders to learn from each other and have in-depth discussions about the technology issues that keep them up at night. With representatives from such esteemed organizations as Kaiser Permanente, the US Tennis Association, and more, the event is sure to be a great success, “ said Glenn Willis, EVP, CIO Summit.

The event’s strategic agenda includes keynote presentations, panel discussions, and case studies on cloud computing, the evolving data center, data security and integrity, and green IT. One-on-one meetings are also held throughout the event.
