CIO Finance Summit Team Announces Keynote Speakers From Bank of America and Wells Fargo

July 15, 2010 – The CIO Finance Summit team announced the latest keynote speakers who have signed on to participate in the technology event's strategic agenda: Vlad Torgovnik, CIO, Consumer, Small Business Banking, Home Loans & Insurance, Bank of America; and Wayne Mekjian, EVP, Information Services, Wells Fargo.

To be held August 29-September 1, 2010, the CIO Finance Summit is an opportunity for more than 50 CIOs and IT leaders to attend panel discussions, case studies, and keynote presentations that cover the latest technology topics and trends. Other highlights of the event include networking sessions, four course dinners, and one-on-one meetings.

"I am so pleased to welcome Mr. Torgovnik and Mr. Mekjian as keynote speakers at the upcoming event. Their leadership and knowledge will be an inspiration to our attending CIOs, and will surely spur great conversations throughout the event. As representatives of large banking institutions, both of these men truly understand the business challenges that IT leaders face at their organizations everyday," said Nick Backhouse, EVP, CIO Finance Summit.

Torgovnik's keynote address, with topic to be determined, will kick off the technology event on Sunday, August 29 at 7pm, just prior to the Welcome Gala Dinner. Mekjian's presentation, "Multi Function Shared Services to Address the Operational and Cost Reduction Challenges in Banking," will be given at the end of the first full day of the event. He will be discussing how Wells Fargo cut costs and improved operational performance through multi function shared services.
