Cloud Computing Experts Invited to Speak at Upcoming Technology Event

March 9, 2011 – The CIO Cloud Summit team announced today that it is looking for CIOs and senior technology executives who are currently leading cloud computing projects or are considered cloud computing experts to speak at the upcoming IT event, June 14-16, 2011 in Scottsdale, Arizona at the InterContinental Montelucia.

The CIO Cloud Summit will bring together CIOs from Fortune 1000 organizations, leading IT analysts and innovative solution providers to network and discuss the latest cloud computing topics and trends in a relaxed, yet focused business setting. The event is an opportunity for attendees to learn about new technology, make new business contacts and share best practices.

The CIO Cloud Summit team is currently looking for speakers who can address the following cloud computing topics:

- Building a private cloud
- The transformation of traditional IT
- Optimizing the performance of cloud computing
- Cloud computing compliance
- Cloud computing integration

The CIO Cloud Summit agenda includes think tanks, roundtables, analyst Q&A sessions, panel discussions, and formal and informal networking opportunities. It is designed to encourage in-depth conversation and idea sharing throughout the event.

If you are interested in speaking, moderating, or becoming a panelist at the CIO Cloud Summit, fill out the call for speakers form at <http://www.ciocloudsummit.com/callforspeakers/>.

Qualified speakers will receive complimentary travel, accommodations, food and drink for the duration of the event.
