Toyota Divisional CIO to Speak at CIO U.S. Summit

Tim Platt to Lead Think Tank Discussion at National Summit

London- April 15, 2016: CDM Media is pleased to announce Tim Platt, Group Vice President and Chief Divisional Information Officer at Toyota Motor North America, as our Think Tank speaker for the CIO U.S. Summit for May 1-3, 2016 in Chicago, Illinois.

Our speaker comes to us with over 30 years in the IT field and over 25 years with Toyota. Platt is responsible for leading nine Divisional Information Officers in business engagement and information technology delivery for all business units across Toyota Moto North America's more than 85 facilities across the U.S., Canada and Mexico. He is a member of Toyota's Global CIO group, aligning and setting direction for Toyota's global operations of over 65 manufacturing facilities and automotive sales in more than 160 countries and regions. Platt regularly speaks for numerous Higher Learning institutes and a number of CIO Associations.

Platt will lead a think tank discussion on "IPv6 Adoption" at the CIO U.S. Summit., with several takeaways for attendees.

Takeaways include:

- Understand whether to build net new in parallel, or upgrade existing networks
- Changes will extend beyond just the infrastructure - internal and external application will be affected as will WAN service providers
- IPv6 migration is not a trivial effort; significant upfront planning is required and this initiative cannot be handled in a reactionary manner
