CDM Media Announces a Call For Speakers for Q3 2014 Summits!

CHICAGO, May 8, 2014 – CDM Media, the leading B2B Marketing and Media Firm, announced today that they are now accepting speaker applications for their summits taking place during August and September, 2014. Their impressive events plan covers a number of different geographies, industries, and subject matters which are front of mind for C-Suite executives in today's ever changing organizational landscapes.

Designed by Content Committees, CDM Media's summit agendas balance networking, thought leadership, one-on-one meetings and relationship building. Differing vastly from the impersonal tradeshow floor, summits are attended by around 50 C-Suite executive attendees from Fortune 1000 companies – creating an intimate environment where sessions are interactive and attendees are very comfortable in sharing their experiences and proven best practices.

“What makes a great summit is strong content and so we're always on the lookout for engaging thought leaders that have a story to tell,” explains James Quin, Senior Director of Content and C-Suite Communities at CDM Media. “Our attendees want to hear from people just like themselves that have already dealt with the issues they are beginning to tackle. It doesn't matter if the outcome was successful or not – learning what NOT to do is just as useful as learning what TO do. So, if you've got a story to tell, we'd love to work with you on sharing it with an audience that will be appreciative to hear it.”

A highlight of some of the summits which are currently included in this call for speakers are:
